Fra venstre: Tidligere juntaleder og præsident, major Johnny Paul Koroma sammen med parlamentets formand Elizabeth Alpha-Lavali og oprørsbevægelsen RUF's talsmand, advokat Omrie Golley efter en forsoningskonference arrangeret af Hope - Sierra Leone i Schweiz i august 2001. Til højre ses Hope - Sierra Leones stifter og formand John Bangura, der bor i Værløse.

Sierra Leones indenrigs- og sikkerhedsminister, Chief Samuel Hinga Norman (med briller) i Hope - Sierra Leones (H-SL) kontor i hovedstaden Freetown i november 2002. Lige bag ham ses H-SL's generalsekretær Saidou Charm, der er teknikumlektor og muslim. Med slips ses Desmond Johnson, der er community relations officer i Anti-Corruption Commission. Mellem dem er H-SL's documentaion officer, der tidligere var direktør for det statslige mineselskab. Allerbagest skimtes Sorie Kargbo, der er præst i en pinsemenighed og tillige national coordinator for H-SL. Til højre ses John Bangura.

I byen Makeni, november 2002, hvor Hope - Sierra Leone holdt møder med borgerkrigens parter: Lokale ledere og tidligere fjender på vej til bymidten for at plante et træ for fred og forsoning som symbol på det løfte, de har afgivet om ikke mere at gribe til våben.

John Bangura (left), an officer of the Regional military Brigade, a former RUF commander (right of the officer) and the officer in charge of information at the Regional Police Headquarters jointly handing over the peace and reconciliation tree to the Paramount Chief (in white cap) before been planted on December 5th, 2002.

Herover: Head of Amputee delegation from Southern Province, Mussa Vandi, at seminar in the town of Bo on December 12-13th, bringing together for the first time both members of the RUF and the CDF in a two-day peace and reconciliation seminar.

Present were a senior military delegation from the UN mission in Sierra Leone stationed in Bo Town, Minister of Internal Affairs and National Security Chief Samuel Hinga Norman, the Regent Chief of Kakua Chiefdom Bo, the press, and distinguished citizens.

Brima Kargbo, one of the beneficiaries of the Tissana Fishing Project. In the Tissana project Hope-Sierra Leone has enabled 7 families to start rice farming, 8 families to farm cassava, 5 families to farm potatoes and the launching of a community fishing project.

Ordet forsoning bliver meget stærkt, når offer møder gerningsmand. Personen til venstre mistede højre hånd og øre under angrebet på hans landsby. Personen til højre deltog i sådanne overfald. Efter at talt ud om deres oplevelser er der omsider plads til tilgivelse. Fra et af Hope - Sierra Leones seminarer i maj-juni 2003.
